Location: North Wales Rivers to be decided on the day, Most likely lower Tryweryn and/or Dee

River Leader/s: Steve Battams

Water Grade / conditions:

Im planning for low level Grade 2/3 white water. If you have done other rivers like Matlock, Symonds Yat etc this is ideal. Main plan would be Tryweryn (lower/upper) if running or the Dee , Levels & Locations are very rain dependent and can only be decided on the day. It is very doubtful that anything else will have any water in it.

Accommodation Details:

Plan to camp at Ty Isaf, Camping (Bala LL23 7PP) www.tyisafbala.co.uk cost £10 per person per night. Plan would be to arrive on Friday evening. Some people may BBQ others may head into bala for takeaway or completely up to you.

Boats, Transport & any other Details:

Its quite a drive to North Wales so would be good to try and share transport costs by sharing cars. We will also need to drive from the campsite each day to a river as well as deal with a shuttle before we paddle.

I have a limit of 4 people that are new to this level of water that I can guide down the river. We also need a couple of more experienced paddlers. This isn't a limit of 4 people on the trip it's a limit of new people to this grade. If interested please contact me.

You will need a boat suitable for white water, and all the other clothing/ waterproof kit to deal with the weather paddling in Wales.

If we paddle the upper section of the Tryweryn then there is an additional charge.

Being June we cant guarantee the Tryweryn will have a release on but I need to pay the campsite and make the booking of numbers,(its going in my name) If there is no water then we have the option to walk in the mountains.

I need to contact the campsite by the 21st with numbers.
